To: Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council

From: Dee Williams-Ridley, City Manager

Submitted by: Mark Numainville, City Clerk

Subject: Placing a General Tax Measure on the November 8, 2022 Ballot to Tax Vacant Residential Units

RECOMMENDATION
1. Adopt a Resolution submitting a ballot measure to tax vacant residential units to a vote of the electors at the November 8, 2022 General Municipal Election.

2. Designate, by motion, specific members of the Council to file ballot measure arguments on this measure as provided for in Elections Code Section 9282.

FISCAL IMPACTS OF RECOMMENDATION
No direct fiscal impacts related to the recommended action. Election services have seen a steep increase since 2018, with the City’s first million-dollar election in 2020. It is uncertain at this time how recent state mandates and the pandemic will affect election costs in an ongoing basis. In addition, the number of measures placed on the ballot, and the length of the measures, are the primary driving factors in the fluctuation of election costs.

CURRENT SITUATION AND ITS EFFECTS
See attached report submitted by Vice Mayor Harrison, and Councilmembers Robinson and Bartlett (Attachment 1).

BACKGROUND
The City Manager is presenting this measure for addition to the November 8, 2022 ballot pursuant to the direction provided by the City Council at the June 14, 2022 regular City Council meeting.

Adoption of the resolution attached to this item will place the measure on the ballot. In addition, with respect to who can author arguments for measures placed on the ballot by the Council, Elections Code Section 9282(b) provides that the legislative body may submit an argument in favor of the measure. The City Council may authorize the Council as a whole, or certain members of the Council, to submit an argument in favor of the measure.
ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY AND CLIMATE IMPACTS
There are no identifiable environmental effects, climate impacts, or sustainability opportunities associated with the subject of this report.

RATIONALE FOR RECOMMENDATION
The City Clerk is presenting this action in accordance with the direction given by the City Council at the June 14, 2022 meeting.

ALTERNATIVE ACTIONS CONSIDERED
None.

Subject: Placing an Empty Homes Tax Ordinance on the November 8, 2022 Ballot

RECOMMENDATION
Submit an Ordinance to a vote of the electors at the November 8, 2022 General Municipal Election adding Chapter 7.54 to the Berkeley Municipal Code taxing property owners for keeping housing units vacant for more than 182 days in a single year, for units that 1) are not under permitted renovation or in probate, and 2) are in multi-unit buildings or are single family homes or condominiums whose owners are not natural persons or family trusts.

CURRENT SITUATION AND RATIONALE FOR RECOMMENDATION
The City of Berkeley is experiencing a historic housing crisis. Between 2005 and 2019 gross median rent increased by over 50%. This has been particularly burdensome in a city where 58% of residents are renters.1 While in recent years Berkeley has met its RHNA goals for those earning above 120% Area Median Income (AMI), it has failed to build sufficient housing for everyone else. Further, housing at the >120% AMI category has not significantly improved affordability for lower income residents and has increased displacement in low-income neighborhoods.2 The extraordinary gap between the housing needs of residents and the availability of housing can only be bridged through the use of numerous policy interventions, including a vacancy tax intended to incentivize owners of housing property to bring units back on the market and discourage speculation.

In a recent poll of top policy priorities among Berkeley voters, increasing affordable housing for low-income and homeless residents received by far the most support, at 58%.3 While Berkeley is actively building new affordable units, siting and constructing new units is a longer-term process, and it is incumbent on the City to maximize the availability of existing units that are already built and could be available for rent or sale.

Unfortunately, Alameda County’s housing remains unaffordable for many of its residents, and this burden does not fall evenly across income and racial groups. While 47% of renters in Alameda County are rent burdened, the rate is 58% for Black renters and 87% for extremely low-income renters. Meanwhile, as this crisis continues to unfold, Berkeley Rent Stabilization Board data indicates that 1,128 fully or partially regulated units have been classified by their owners as not available to rent (NAR). Around 40% of the 1,128 NAR units are in properties that are completely vacant, and almost 80% of NAR units are in properties that are half or more empty. A few of these are actively being renovated but the majority are not. Many have not been occupied for some time or actually are rented but not reported as being so to the Rent Board. Based on a review of Rent Board data and Google Street View, approximately 100 of these units are in buildings that are entirely vacant and dilapidated. This contributes to neighborhood blight and requires costly vector control and fire inspections. Thus, much of the vacancies in the city are not due to natural turnover.

A recent report examining vacancies in San Francisco found that there is no single force driving the vacancies. It also found that vacancies were disproportionately in multifamily apartment complexes and tended to be in areas with older housing stock and higher rates of new construction—suggesting that property owners are holding older units vacant to capitalize on new construction. Notably, in interviews with numerous landlords, the report found that landlords contraditorily listed rent control as a reason for both low and high vacancy rates. In other words, landlords themselves did not agree there is a clear connection between rent control and vacancy rates.

Oakland and Vancouver, both experiencing their own challenges with housing unaffordability, use a vacant housing tax to encourage owners of vacant units to find tenants or sell to those who will. In 2016, Vancouver passed a measure that placed a surcharge on the assessed value of vacant units. Within two years of its implementation, 21.2% of vacant units returned to occupancy and the city generated $46 million Canadian dollars. Oakland enacted a vacant property tax of $3,000 to $6,000, varying based on property type. In its first year of implementation, the city collected over $7 million in revenue. San Francisco voters will consider a vacant housing tax measure on the November ballot.

Addressing vacant units is a critical part of addressing Berkeley’s housing crisis. Every year that a significant percentage of Berkeley’s housing stock remains vacant exacerbates the housing affordability and displacement crises. This item includes a modified version of San Francisco’s proposed tax adapted to Berkeley. It is in the public interest to refer to the City Attorney and City Manager to prepare and submit a resolution taxing empty homes that would be submitted to a vote of the electors at the November 8, 2022 General Municipal Election.

BACKGROUND
Berkeley’s housing challenges are significant, requiring numerous policy interventions across many years to remediate. However, of the units that were built as part of the 2023 RHNA goals, the majority have been unaffordable to most residents.

In 2019 the City’s median rent was $3,165, making it affordable to only households earning over $130k annually. Median rents have also increased by greater than 50% between 2005 and 2019. Rising rents in the city are of particular concern given that the City has a high renter population, and the impact of high rents falls disproportionately on BIPOC residents.

10 2020 General Plan APR: City of Berkeley, Table 2

Fortunately, the City of Berkeley has taken numerous steps in recent years to tackle its affordable housing crisis, including issuing a $100 million affordable housing bond, permitting Berkeley residents (outside of the fire zones) to receive near-automatic approval to build certain types of ADUs, and rezoning BART stations to allow significant affordable housing. A potential 2022 affordable housing bond is under consideration.

While these efforts will increase the supply of housing in Berkeley, it will take years for the City to reap the benefits. Developments still need to be proposed, approved, and then constructed. Berkeley’s large supply of vacant homes presents a unique opportunity for the City to immediately provide new units to renters, as there are no approval processes or lengthy construction timelines.

Additionally, hot housing markets often attract real estate speculation. Redfin data shows that 13% of homes in Oakland were purchased by an institutional investor or business in the fourth quarter of 2021, a 16.9% increase over the year before. In San Francisco, 18% were acquired by institutional investors. This follows a concerning nation-wide trend where large institutional investors have since the beginning of the pandemic purchased an enormous number of homes; over 75% of these offers are in all cash, and many without any inspections, pricing prospective homeowners out of the real estate market. Large financial institutions, like Blackrock, are now some of the largest owners of real estate in the country. However, unlike traditional homeowners, they treat homes as a commodity to build wealth. This is made clear by private equity-backed landlords being 18% more likely than non-equity backed corporate landlords to evict tenants, who are themselves more likely to do so than small landlords. In a particularly acute instance of the commoditization of housing, one company packaged rental debt from 3,000 homes and sold it to investors for $500 million,\textsuperscript{14} similar to what happens with mortgage debt.

In Berkeley, it is likely that some vacant units are in buildings purchased for the sole purpose of accruing more wealth, with no intention of housing tenants. For instance, there is one property owner who owns 9 units, across 4 properties of two or fewer units in the city—of these, 8 are listed as not available to rent. While the extent of this is unknown, applying a tax on vacant homes will discourage this practice that, in aggregate, raises rents and home prices for everyone else. The proposed Measure fulfills one of the key anti-speculation recommendations of the 2022 report by the Anti-Eviction Mapping Project (\textit{Densifying Berkeley: Potential Impacts on Displacement and Equity}).

Using the assumptions made in the San Francisco Budget Analyst report on a prospective vacancy tax, and Berkeley Rent Board data on length of vacancies, it is estimated that Berkeley will generate between $5.8 million and $8.7 million in revenue annually and that several hundred vacant units could become occupied within two years. This is likely a conservative estimate as it only includes units that have been registered as NAR with the Berkeley Rent Board—other vacant units are not included. The Finance Department has confirmed that the methodology behind these numbers is valid and logical and will affirm them for the ballot statement.

*Excluding 38 single family homes owned by non-corporate owners of less than 3 single-family homes
Assumes 75% of buildings remain vacant after one year
Small properties have 1 - 2 units
Large properties have more than 2 units

Berkeley’s proposed vacancy tax is built off San Francisco’s 2022 proposed Empty Home Tax proposal. The San Francisco vacancy tax applies only to owners of properties with three or more units when at least one has been unoccupied for more than 182 days in a year. Single family homes and two-unit properties are exempt, and the vacancy tax increases for larger properties and units that have been empty for longer. The proposed vacancy tax for Berkeley would likewise be imposed when a unit is left vacant for more than 182 days in a calendar year, providing time extensions for units under active reconstruction or in probate. It will also contain the following exemptions:

- Owners of up to two single family homes and/or condominiums so long as they are owned by natural persons or family trusts. Single family homes and/or condominiums owned by corporations, real estate trusts, and LLCs would not be exempt. Additionally, single family homes with an ADU or JADU will be classified as “one unit”;

- Duplexes, triplexes, and quadplexes where one unit is owner occupied and the owner indicates that another unit is not available to rent due to owner or family use for no compensation;

- A property of four or fewer units whose owner is over 65, makes under 80% of the Area Median Income, and resides in the property;

- Organizations that are exempt from paying property taxes in California, such as non-profit organizations and religious institutions;

- The Empty Homes Tax will be suspended if an eviction moratorium is in place in Berkeley.

15 These estimates are calculated using Berkeley Rent Board data
The exemption for very low-income owners over the age of 65 has not been included in these estimates as only around 100 of all 30,000 Berkeley residences use this exemption for City parcel taxes. The Berkeley Department of Finance found that, given the low number of property owners who would qualify for and use this exemption, revenues will not be materially impacted.

The tax rate would vary between $3,000 and $6,000 depending on the type of unit. Non-exempt condos, duplexes, townhomes and single family homes would pay $3,000 per year. Remaining units would pay $6,000 annually. Both tiers of fees double, to $6,000 and $12,000 annually, respectively, for units vacant for more than two years.

The tax would go into effect on January 1, 2024, and a home will only be considered vacant if it remains vacant for at least 182 days of the year. As such, the vacancy tax provides time for property owners to return units to occupancy or inform the city that a property is exempt before any tax comes into effect.

The vacancy tax in Berkeley would have numerous benefits. It will almost immediately increase the City’s housing stock while complimenting more time-consuming approval and construction processes. Further, the tax has the potential to bring hundreds of units online within a year and generate millions in affordable housing revenue as a byproduct. A vacancy tax will also disincentivize property owners from engaging in real estate speculation, which will help limit rent and housing price increases across the City. Finally, units that are occupied will be brought in line with the city’s housing regulations.

The City has much data related to properties that assist in applying the vacancy tax. Measure MM requires owners to register partially covered units and Measure U1 taxes owners of more than four units. In addition, Berkeley’s long-standing rent registration for fully covered units has provided the city with extensive data on the housing stock in the City.

The draft Measure is currently drafted as a general tax. If passed, funds would be placed into the general fund with the non-binding intention of putting all revenue into the Housing Trust Fund. The Housing Trust Fund supports the following activities:

- Construction of new affordable housing, including by providing pre-development to non-profit affordable housing developers, for households with an income of 80% or less of Area Median Income;
- The acquisition and rehabilitation of multi-unit buildings for affordable housing, and the operation of such buildings acquired and/or rehabilitated for households with an income of 80% or less of Area Median Income;
- The administration of the Empty Homes Tax and administration of the Housing Trust Fund.
ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED
The authors considered expanding the existing owner-occupied low-income senior exemption for properties of four or fewer units to all seniors regardless of income. This alternative would respond to the fact that certain seniors may have purchased property decades ago and may no longer be able rent units in the property. The City does not have specific data for properties of owner-occupied four or fewer units that are owned by seniors. However, according to census data, there are around 19,000 seniors in the city. Using the Rent Board’s NAR data, it is reasonable to expect such an exemption would impact far fewer than 74 NAR units in buildings of four or fewer units estimated to be owned and occupied by seniors.

The authors did not include this alternative because there is already a similar exemption in Section 7.54.030 M. providing owners exemption for a unit that is kept vacant for use by owner or a family member for no compensation.

ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY
Existing buildings embody carbon. Maximizing utilization of existing units is a prudent use of embodied carbon.

FISCAL IMPACTS OF RECOMMENDATION
Staff time will be necessary for a legal review and to prepare a Council item placing the ordinance on the ballot. However, significant savings are anticipated as the ordinance and resolution are already drafted and included as part of this referral.

This Chapter shall be known as the “Empty Homes Tax Ordinance,” and the tax it imposes shall be known as the “Empty Homes Tax.”

7.54.020 Findings and purpose.
The People of the City of Berkeley find and declare as follows:

A. Residential vacancies are an ongoing concern in Berkeley. According to the 2020 Decennial Census, 9% of Berkeley’s housing units, or a total of 4,725 units, sat vacant at the time of the Census.

B. Of total vacancies, the Berkeley Rent Stabilization Board data from 2022 indicates that 1,128 fully or partially regulated units in buildings with more than two units have been classified by their owners as not available to rent. Returning these units to the housing market is a key strategy for ensuring long-term affordability.

C. Prolonged vacancy restricts the supply of available housing units and runs counter to the City’s housing objectives. Prolonged vacancies can also decrease economic activity in neighborhoods and lead to blight.
D. The housing affordability crisis has created an urgent need to pay for additional services and programs including, but not limited to, construction of new affordable housing for households with a household income of 80% or less of Area Median Income, including by providing pre-development funding to non-profit affordable housing developers, and the acquisition and rehabilitation of multi-unit buildings for affordable housing, and the operation of such buildings acquired and/or rehabilitated.

E. Berkeley is also working to ensure all public funds available to build affordable housing are being maximized, from the City, Alameda County, State and Federal governments.

F. Even with the addition of City, County, State, and Federal resources, Berkeley is unable to house all of its residents.

G. The increased costs of meeting the challenges of the housing crisis have impacted Berkeley’s General Fund.

H. The City needs new funds to pay for municipal services. The Empty Homes Tax is intended to disincentivize prolonged vacancies, thereby increasing the number of housing units available for occupancy, while also raising funds for municipal services, including but not limited to constructing, acquiring, and rehabilitating affordable housing.

7.54.030 Definitions.

Unless otherwise defined in this Chapter, the terms used in this Chapter shall have the meanings given to them in Chapters 2.44 and 9.04, of the Municipal Code, as amended from time to time. For purposes of this Chapter, the following definitions shall apply:

A. “Affiliate” means an entity under common majority ownership or common control, whether that ownership or control is direct or indirect, with any other person or entity, including but not limited to a person or entity that majority owns or controls, or is majority owned or controlled by, any other person or entity.

B. “Building Permit Application Period” means the period following the date that an application for a building permit for repair, rehabilitation, or construction with respect to a Residential Unit is filed with the City through the date the Planning Department or its successor agency grants or denies that application, not to exceed one year. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, if more than one building permit application is filed by or on behalf of one or more persons in the Owner’s Group for the same Residential Unit, the Building Permit Application Period shall mean only the applicable period following the date the first application is filed with the City by or on behalf of anyone in the Owner’s Group. In the case of an owner qualifying for the Disaster Period in subsection D, the Building Permit Application Period may be extended beyond one year if the owner makes a good faith effort, as determined by the building official, to obtain a building permit.

C. “Rehabilitation Period” means the two-year period following the date that the City issues a building permit for repair, or rehabilitation, with respect to a Residential Unit, provided that if the City issues multiple building permits to or for the benefit of one or more persons in the Owner’s Group for the same Residential Unit, the Rehabilitation
Period shall mean only the two-year period following the issuance of the first building permit to or for the benefit of anyone in the Owner’s Group.

D. “Disaster Period” means the two-year period following the date that a Residential Unit was severely damaged and made uninhabitable or unusable due to fire, natural disaster, or other catastrophic event.

E. “Homeowners’ Exemption Period” means the period during which a Residential Unit is the principal place of residence of any owner of that Residential Unit and for which such owner validly has claimed either the homeowners’ property tax exemption under Section 218 of the California Revenue and Taxation Code or the disabled veterans’ exemption under Section 205.5 of that Code, as those sections may be amended from time to time.

F. “Lease Period” means the period during which any owner of a Residential Unit or any person in the Owner’s Group of that owner leases that Residential Unit to one or more tenants under a bona fide lease intended for occupancy, but not including any lease or rental of that Residential Unit to anyone in the Owner’s Group or to travelers, vacationers, or other transient occupants.

G. “New Construction Period” means the one-year period following the date that the City issues a certificate of final completion and occupancy with respect to a Residential Unit in a newly erected building or a newly added Residential Unit in an existing building.

H. “Owner Death Period” means, with respect to a co-owner or decedent’s estate, heirs, or beneficiaries, the period during which a Residential Unit is unoccupied, uninhabited, or unused because of the death of any owner of a Residential Unit who was the sole occupant of that Residential Unit immediately prior to such owner’s death, provided that such period shall not exceed the longer of two years or the period during which the Residential Unit is subject to the authority of a probate court.

I. “Owner In Care Period” means the period during which a Residential Unit is unoccupied, uninhabited, or unused because all occupants of the Residential Unit who used that Residential Unit as their principal residence are residing in a hospital, long term or supportive care facility, medical care or treatment facility, or other similar facility.

J. “Owner’s Group” means for each owner of a Residential Unit, with respect to each Residential Unit, the owner, any current or former co-owner, and any Related Person or Affiliate of the owner or any current or former co-owner.

K. “Related Person” means a spouse, domestic partner, child, parent, or sibling.

L. “Residential Unit” means a house, an apartment, a mobile home, a group of rooms, or a single room that is designed as separate living quarters, other than units occupied or intended for occupancy primarily by travelers, vacationers, or other transient occupants. Separate living quarters are those in which the occupants live and eat separately from any other persons in the building and which have a kitchen and direct access from the outside of the building or through a common hall. For purposes of this Chapter, a Residential Unit shall not include a unit in a currently operational nursing home, residential care facility, or other similar facility, or any unit that is fully exempt from property tax under the welfare exemption under Section 214(g) of the California Revenue and Taxation Code, as may be amended from time to time.
M. “Vacancy Exclusion Period” means the Building Permit Application Period, Rehabilitation Period, Disaster Period, Homeowners’ Exemption Period, Lease Period, New Construction Period, Owner Death Period, or Owner In Care Period, or where the owner has affirmatively indicated through filings with the Rent Board that a single unit in an owner-occupied duplex, triplex, or quadplex is being used by the owner or a family member for no consideration.

N. “Vacant” means unoccupied, uninhabited, or unused, for more than 182 days, whether consecutive or nonconsecutive, in a calendar year.

7.54.040 Imposition of Tax.

A. Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter, the City imposes an annual Empty Homes Tax on each person that owns a Residential Unit for keeping that Residential Unit Vacant.

B. The tax on an owner keeping a Residential Unit Vacant shall be as follows:

1. For the first calendar year that the Residential Unit is Vacant, the tax shall be $3,000 per vacant condominium, duplex, single family dwelling, or townhouse unit under separate residential unit ownership and $6,000 per any other vacant Residential Unit.

2. For the second consecutive calendar year and each subsequent calendar year thereafter that the Residential Unit is Vacant, the tax shall be $6,000 per vacant condominium, duplex, single family dwelling, or townhouse unit under separate residential unit ownership and $12,000 per any other vacant Residential Unit.

C. The rates set forth in subsection B. of this Section shall be adjusted annually in accordance with the increase in the Consumer Price Index: All Urban Consumers for the San Francisco/Oakland/San Jose Area for All Items as reported by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, or any successor to that index, as of December 31st of the preceding year, beginning with the 2025 calendar year.

D. The Empty Homes Tax shall be payable by the owner or owners of the Residential Unit kept Vacant. Not more than one tax per Residential Unit shall be imposed under this Section for a calendar year by reason of multiple liable owners. If there are multiple liable owners, each owner shall be jointly and severally liable for the tax, which shall be the highest amount of tax payable by any owner for that Residential Unit for that calendar year.

E. A person shall be liable for the Empty Homes Tax only if that person, while owning a Residential Unit, has kept or is deemed to have kept that Residential Unit unoccupied, uninhabited, or unused, for more than 182 days, whether consecutive or nonconsecutive, in a calendar year. In determining whether an owner has kept a Residential Unit Vacant during a calendar year, days within any Vacancy Exclusion Period shall be disregarded if that Vacancy Exclusion Period applies to that owner for that Residential Unit, as shall days in which the Residential Unit was not owned by the owner, but the owner shall be deemed to have kept the Residential Unit unoccupied, uninhabited, or unused on all other days that such Residential Unit is unoccupied, uninhabited, or unused during the calendar year.
F. The Empty Homes Tax shall take effect on January 1, 2024. The Empty Homes Tax shall expire on December 31, 2034, unless reauthorized by the voters prior to such date.

G. The Empty Homes Tax shall be suspended for as long as the Berkeley COVID-19 Residential Eviction Moratorium is in effect pursuant to BMC 13.110 and shall resume upon expiration.

7.54.050 Returns; Presumption of Vacancy.

A. Each person that is required to pay the Empty Homes Tax shall file a return in the form and manner prescribed by the City Manager.

B. Each person that owns a Residential Unit at any time during a calendar year and that is not exempt from the Empty Homes Tax with respect to that Residential Unit under any one of subsections A. through E. of Section 7.54.060 shall file a return for that calendar year in the form and manner prescribed by the City Manager. A person that fails to file the return required by this subsection B. for a Residential Unit shall be presumed to have kept that Residential Unit Vacant for the calendar year for which such return is required. The person who fails to file the required return may rebut the presumption by producing satisfactory evidence that such person did not keep the Residential Unit Vacant during the calendar year for which the return is required.

7.54.060 Exemptions and Exclusions.

A. For only so long as and to the extent that the City is prohibited by the Constitution or laws of the State of California or the Constitution or laws of the United States from imposing the Empty Homes Tax on any person that person shall be exempt from the Empty Homes Tax.

B. Any organization that is exempt from income taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, shall be exempt from the Empty Homes Tax.

C. The City, the State of California, and any county, municipal corporation, district, or other political subdivision of the State shall be exempt from the Empty Homes Tax, except where any constitutional or statutory immunity from taxation is waived or is not applicable.

D. A natural person or family trust that is the owner of no more than two Single Family Dwellings or condominiums shall be exempt from the Empty Homes Tax for Single Family Dwelling Residential Units or condominiums. For purposes of this subsection D. only, “Single Family Dwelling” is inclusive of a single accessory dwelling unit and a junior accessory dwelling unit. Additionally, for the purposes of this subsection D. only, the “owner” of such Rental Property shall not be any of the following set forth under California Civil Code Section 1947.12(d)(5)(A)(i)-(iii) (“AB 1482”): a real estate investment trust, as defined in Section 856 of the Internal Revenue Code; a corporation; or a limited liability company.

E. The tax imposed by this Chapter shall not apply to a property of four or fewer units which is owner-occupied and whose owner (1) is sixty-five (65) years of age or older and
(2) whose combined family income, from all sources for the previous year, is at or below the income level qualifying as eighty percent (80%) of area median income for a Family of such size under Section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C.A. Sections 1437 et. seq.), or successor legislation, for such year. Any taxpayer claiming the exemption under this section shall be required to demonstrate their entitlement thereto annually by submitting an application and supporting documentation to the City Manager or their designee in the manner and at the time established in regulations and/or guidelines hereafter promulgated by the City Manager subject to review by the City Council in its discretion. Such applications shall be on forms provided by the City Manager, or their designee, and shall provide and/or be accompanied by such information as the City Manager shall require, including but not limited to, federal income tax returns and W-2 forms.

7.54.070 Administration; Penalties

A. The City Manager shall enforce the provisions of this Chapter and may prescribe, adopt, and enforce rules and regulations relating to the administration and enforcement of this chapter. The City Manager shall cause all moneys collected pursuant to this chapter to be deposited to the credit of the general fund.

B. The tax required by this Chapter is delinquent if not received by the tax administrator on or before February 28 of each year.

C. Any person who fails to pay the tax required by this Chapter to the City or any amount of tax required to be collected and paid to the City within the time required shall pay a penalty of ten percent of the tax or amount of the tax, in addition to the tax or amount of tax, plus interest at the rate of one percent per month from the date on which the tax or the amount of tax required to be collected became due and payable to the City until the date of payment.

D. Transactions with the principal purpose of avoiding or evading all or a portion of the Empty Homes Tax shall be disregarded for purposes of determining the amount of the Empty Homes Tax and whether the Empty Homes Tax is due. Any owner determined to have engaged in one or more transactions with the principal purpose of avoiding or evading all or a portion of the Empty Homes Tax shall be liable for the Empty Homes Tax and also liable for a penalty in an amount equal to the Empty Homes Tax.

E. Any tax required to be paid by an owner under the provisions of this chapter shall be deemed a debt owed by the owner to the City. Any person owing money to the City under the provisions of this chapter shall be liable to an action brought in the name of the City for the recovery of such amount, along with any collection costs incurred by the City as a result of the person’s noncompliance with this chapter, including, but not limited to, reasonable attorneys’ fees, plus interest and penalties as herein provided.

7.54.080 Housing Trust Fund; Deposit of Proceeds.

A. The Council may deposit any portion of the general revenue purposes proceeds generated by the Empty Homes Tax into the Housing Trust Fund, subject to its operating rules.
7.54.090 Technical Assistance to the City Manager; Annual Reports.

A. The Department of Public Works, the Planning Department, and the Rent Board, shall provide technical assistance to the City Manager, upon the City Manager’s request, to administer the Empty Homes Tax.

B. Commencing with a report filed no later than February 15, 2026, covering the fiscal year ending June 30, 2025, the City Manager shall file annually with the Council, by February 15 of each year, a report containing the amount of monies collected from the tax during the prior fiscal year.

7.54.100 Authorization and Limitation on Issuance of Bonds.

The City shall be authorized to pledge revenues generated by the Empty Homes Tax to the repayment of limited tax bonds or other forms of indebtedness authorized under this Section. The Council shall by ordinance or resolution, as applicable, establish the terms of any limited tax bonds or other forms of indebtedness authorized hereby, including but not limited to, the amount of the issue, date, covenants, denominations, interest rate or rates, maturity or maturities, redemption rights, tax status, manner of sale, and such other particulars as are necessary or desirable.

7.54.110 Severability.

If any word, phrase, sentence, part, section, subsection, or other portion of this ordinance, or any application thereof to any person or circumstance is declared void, unconstitutional, or invalid for any reason, then such word, phrase, sentence, part, section, subsection, or other portion, or the prescribed application thereof, shall be severable, and the remaining provisions of this chapter, and all applications thereof, not having been declared void, unconstitutional or invalid, shall remain in full force and effect. The People of the City of Berkeley hereby declare that they would have passed this ordinance, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases had been declared invalid or unconstitutional.

7.54.120 Savings Clause.

No section, clause, part, or provision of this Chapter shall be construed as requiring the payment of any tax that would be in violation of the Constitution or laws of the United States or of the Constitution or laws of the State of California.

Section 2. Increase Appropriations Limit. Section 4. General Tax; Majority Vote Requirement. This Ordinance imposes a general tax for general revenue purposes and shall be effective only if approved by a majority of the voters voting thereon.
REVISED AGENDA MATERIAL

Meeting Date: July 12, 2022

Item #: 16

Item Description: Placing a Special Tax Measure on the November 8, 2022 Ballot to Tax Vacant Residential Units to Fund Construction, Acquisition and Rehabilitation of Affordable Housing

Submitted by: Vice Mayor Harrison

This revised agenda material regarding the Empty Homes Tax includes an updated background document and ordinance for informational purposes, reflecting Council comments and feedback at the May 31 Council meeting.

Pursuant to the May 31 referral to the City Attorney and City Manager, Vice Mayor Harrison continues to work with the departments to prepare a finalized and legally sound draft for Council consideration before the Council recess.

Summary of substantial changes in the updated measure:

• Expand Vacancy Exclusion Period to include instances where the owner has affirmatively indicated through filings with the Rent Board that a single unit in an owner-occupied duplex is being used by owner or family members for no consideration;
• Clarify that the tax shall expire on January 1, 2034, unless reauthorized by voters prior to such date.
• Add condominiums to the natural person/family trust exemption;
• Add exemption for own-occupied properties of three or fewer units where the owner (1) is sixty-five (65) years of age or older and (2) whose combined family income, from all sources for the previous year, is at or below the income level qualifying as eighty percent (80%) of area median income.
• Added clarification that the tax would not apply during periods of emergency.

Summary of changes in the background document:
• Information showing that a significant number of vacant properties in Berkeley are entirely or mostly vacant. This provides further evidence that much of the vacancies in the city are not due to natural turnover;
• Data showing that institutional investor purchases of homes are at an all-time high nationally. In Oakland and SF 13% and 18% were acquired by institutional investors respectively and an example from Berkeley added;
• Updated revenue projections to a range of $4.8 million and $7.2 million, excluding units that indicated to be for use by owner. Clarify that this is likely a conservative estimate given only units that have registered as not available to rent (NAR) with the rent board are used;
• Exemptions detailed in the above section;
• Information clarifying the long period to prepare for the vacancy tax, as it will not take effect until 2024 and will only be applied at the end of that calendar year if units remain vacant.

Subject: Placing a Special Tax Measure on the November 8, 2022 Ballot to Tax Vacant Residential Units to Fund Construction, Acquisition and Rehabilitation of Affordable Housing Refer to the City Attorney and City Manager an Empty Homes Tax Ordinance for the November 8, 2022 Ballot

RECOMMENDATION
Refer to the City Attorney and City Manager to prepare and submit a resolution Submitting an Ordinance adding Chapter 7.54 to the Berkeley Municipal Code taxing housing units that 1) have remained vacant for more than one year, 2) are not under permitted renovation or in probate and 3) are in multi-unit buildings or are single family homes or condominiums whose owners are not natural persons or family trusts to a vote of the electors at the November 8, 2022 General Municipal Election.

CURRENT SITUATION AND RATIONALE FOR RECOMMENDATION
The City of Berkeley is experiencing a historic housing crisis. Between 2005 and 2019 gross median rent increased by over 50%. This has been particularly burdensome in a city where 58% of residents are renters.1 While in recent years Berkeley has met its RHNA goals for those earning above 120% Area Median Income (AMI), it has failed to build sufficient housing for everyone else. Further, housing at the >120% AMI category has not significantly improved affordability for lower income residents and has increased displacement in low-income neighborhoods.2 The extraordinary gap between the housing needs of residents and the availability of housing can only be bridged through the use of numerous policy interventions, including a vacancy tax intended to incentivize owners of housing property to bring units back on the market and discourage speculation.

In a recent poll of top policy priorities among Berkeley voters, increasing affordable housing for low-income and homeless residents received by far the most support, at 58%. While Berkeley is actively building new affordable units, siting and constructing new units is a longer-term process, and it is incumbent on the City to maximize the availability of existing units that are already built and could be available for rent or sale.

Unfortunately, Alameda County’s housing remains unaffordable for many of its residents, and this burden does not fall evenly across income and racial groups. While 47% of renters in Alameda County are rent burdened, the rate is 58% for Black renters and 87% for extremely low-income renters. Meanwhile, as this crisis continues to unfold, Berkeley Rent Stabilization Board data indicates that 1,128 fully or partially regulated units have been classified by their owners as not available to rent (NAR). Around 40% of the 1,128 NAR units are in properties that are completely vacant, and almost 80% of NAR units are in properties that are half or more empty. A few of these are actively being renovated but the majority are not. Many have not been occupied for some time or actually are rented but not reported as being so to the Rent Board. Based on a review of Rent Board data and Google Street View, approximately 100 of these units are in buildings that are entirely vacant and dilapidated. This contributes to neighborhood blight and requires costly vector control and fire inspections. Thus, much of the vacancies in the city are not due to natural turnover.

Oakland and Vancouver, both experiencing their own challenges with housing unaffordability, use a vacant housing tax to encourage owners of vacant units to find tenants or sell to those who will. In 2016, Vancouver passed a measure that placed a surcharge on the assessed value of vacant units. Within two years of its implementation, 21.2% of vacant units returned to occupancy and the city generated $46 million Canadian dollars. Oakland enacted a vacant property tax of $3,000 to $6,000, varying based on property type. In its first year of implementation, the city collected over $7 million in revenue. San Francisco is actively considering placing a vacant housing tax measure on the November ballot.

Addressing vacant units is a critical part of addressing Berkeley’s housing crisis. Every year that a significant percentage of Berkeley’s housing stock remains vacant exacerbates the housing affordability and displacement crises. This item includes a modified version of San Francisco’s proposed tax adapted to Berkeley. It is in the public interest to refer to the City Attorney and City Manager to prepare and submit a resolution taxing empty homes that would be submitted to a vote of the electors at the November 8, 2022 General Municipal Election.

BACKGROUND
Berkeley’s housing challenges are significant, requiring numerous policy interventions across many years to remediate. However, of the units that were built as part of the 2023 RHNA goals, the majority have been unaffordable to most residents.

In 2019 the City’s median rent was $3,165, making it affordable to only households earning over $130k annually. Median rents have also increased by greater than 50% between 2005 and 2019. Rising rents in the city are of particular concern given that the City has a high renter population, and the impact of high rents falls disproportionately on BIPOC residents.

10 Ibid.
Fortunately, the City of Berkeley has taken numerous steps in recent years to tackle its affordable housing crisis, including issuing a $100 million affordable housing bond, permitting Berkeley residents (outside of the fire zones) to receive near-automatic approval to build certain types of ADUs, and rezoning BART stations to allow significant affordable housing. A potential 2022 affordable housing bond is under consideration.

While these efforts will likely dramatically increase the supply of housing in Berkeley, it will take years for the City to reap the benefits. Developments still need to be proposed, approved, and then constructed. Berkeley’s large supply of vacant homes presents a unique opportunity for the City to immediately provide new units to renters, as there are no approval processes or lengthy construction timelines.

Additionally, hot housing markets often attract real estate speculation. Redfin data shows that 13% of homes in Oakland were purchased by an institutional investor or business in the fourth quarter of 2021, a 16.9% increase over the year before. In San Francisco, 18% were acquired by institutional investors. Nationally, investor purchases of homes are at an all-time high.
In Berkeley, it is likely that some vacant units are in buildings purchased for the sole purpose of accruing more wealth, with no intention of housing tenants. An example is one property owner who owns 9 units, across 4 properties of two or fewer units in the city—of these, 8 are listed as not available to rent. While the extent of this is unknown, applying a tax on vacant homes will discourage this practice that, in aggregate, raises rents and home prices for everyone else. The proposed Measure fulfills one of the key anti-speculation recommendations of the 2022 report by the Anti-Eviction Mapping Project (Densifying Berkeley: Potential Impacts on Displacement and Equity).

Using the assumptions made in the San Francisco Budget Analyst report on a prospective vacancy tax, and Berkeley Rent Board data on length of vacancies, it is estimated that Berkeley will generate between $4.8 million and $7.2 million in revenue annually and that several hundred vacant units could become occupied within two years.\(^{11}\) This is likely a conservative estimate as it only includes units that have been registered as NAR with the Berkeley Rent Board—other vacant units are not included. Revenues projected here assume that units for owner use are predominately in one and two unit buildings, therefore, we are only calculating likely revenues from properties with three or more units.

Berkeley’s proposed vacancy tax is built off San Francisco’s 2022 proposed Empty Home Tax proposal. The San Francisco vacancy tax applies only to owners of buildings with three or more units when at least one has been unoccupied for more than 182 days in a year. Single family homes and two-unit properties are exempt, and the vacancy tax increases for larger properties and units that have been empty for longer. The proposed vacancy tax for Berkeley would instead be imposed after a year of vacancy, providing time extensions for units under active reconstruction or in probate. It will also contain the following exemptions:

- Owners of up to two single family homes and/or condominiums so long as they are owned by natural persons or family trusts. Single family homes and/or condominiums owned by corporations, real estate trusts, and LLCs would not be exempt. Additionally, single family homes with an ADU or JADU will be classified as “one unit” for the purposes of determining how many units are owned.

- Duplexes where one unit is owner occupied if the owner indicates that the other unit is not available to rent

- A property of three or fewer units whose owner is over 65, makes under 80% of the Area Median Income, and resides in the property

- Organizations that are exempt from paying property taxes in California, such as non-profit organizations and religious institutions

- The Empty Homes Tax will be suspended if an eviction moratorium is in place in Berkeley.

The tax rate would vary between $3,000 and $6,000 depending on the type of unit. Condos, duplexes, townhomes and Single Family Homes not exempt as described above would pay $3,000 per year. Remaining units would pay $6,000 annually. Both tiers of fees double, to $6,000 and $12,000 annually, respectively, for units vacant for more than two years.

The tax would go into effect on January 1, 2024, and a home will only be considered vacant if it remains vacant for the entire year. As such, the vacancy tax provides a long runway for property owners to return units to occupancy or inform the city that a property is exempt before any tax comes into effect.

The vacancy tax in Berkeley would have numerous benefits. It will almost immediately increase the City’s housing stock while complimenting more time-consuming approval and construction processes. Further, the tax has the potential to bring hundreds of units online within a year and generate millions in affordable housing revenue as a byproduct. A vacancy tax will also disincentivize property owners from engaging in real estate speculation, which will help limit rent and housing price increases across the City. Finally, units that are actually occupied will be brought in line with the city’s housing regulations.

The draft Measure is currently drafted as a special tax. If passed, Council and City would be required to spend proceeds as specified. While the primary purpose of the proposed tax is to bring vacant units back into the housing market, the proposed Measure includes a Housing Trust Fund supporting the following activities:

- Construction of new affordable housing, including by providing pre-development to non-profit affordable housing developers, for households with an income of 80% or less of Area Median Income;
- The acquisition and rehabilitation of multi-unit buildings for affordable housing, and the operation of such buildings acquired and/or rehabilitated for households with an income of 80% or less of Area Median Income;
- The administration of the Empty Homes Tax and administration of the Housing Trust Fund.

The referral calls on the Author to submit the measure to the City Attorney for legal review.

ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY
Existing buildings embody carbon. Maximizing utilization of existing units is a prudent use of embodied carbon.

FISCAL IMPACTS OF RECOMMENDATION
Staff time will be necessary for a legal review and to prepare a Council item placing the ordinance on the ballot. However, significant savings are anticipated as the ordinance and resolution are already drafted and included as part of this referral.

This Chapter shall be known as the “Empty Homes Tax Ordinance,” and the tax it imposes shall be known as the “Empty Homes Tax.”

7.54.020 Findings and purpose.
The Council of the City of Berkeley finds and declares as follows:
A. Residential vacancies are an ongoing concern in Berkeley. According to the 2020 Decennial Census, 9% of Berkeley’s housing units, or a total of 4,725 units, sit vacant.
B. Of total vacancies, the Berkeley Rent Stabilization Board data from 2022 indicates that 1,128 fully or partially regulated units in buildings with more than two units have been classified by their owners as not available to rent. Returning these units to the housing market is a key strategy for ensuring long-term affordability.
C. Prolonged vacancy restricts the supply of available housing units and runs counter to the City’s housing objectives. Prolonged vacancies can also decrease economic activity in neighborhoods and lead to blight.
D. The Empty Homes Tax is intended to disincentivize prolonged vacancies, thereby increasing the number of housing units available for occupancy, while also raising funds for rent subsidies and affordable housing.

7.54.030 Definitions.
Unless otherwise defined in this Chapter, the terms used in this Chapter shall have the meanings given to them in Chapter 2.44 and 9.04, of the Municipal Code, as amended from time to time. For purposes of this Chapter, the following definitions shall apply:
