Standardized protocols reduce training and mitigate turnover costs

Dispatch Needs Assessment

Timeline & Budget

Timeline Considerations

- Berkeley procurement process
- Vendor availability for scheduling
- Staff training timeline
- Average implementation: ~6 months

Budget Considerations

- $375,000: Implementation costs typically averages $125k per protocol set (Police, Fire, EMS)
- $57,375: Training $425 per person per certification – 45 personnel recommended in validation study
- $8,000: Ongoing costs for recertification maintenance and updates

In the background, a range of mountains is visible under a sky with scattered clouds. The entire image is in grayscale and serves as a background for the text.

CONSIDERATIONS AND NEXT STEPS

Workload Organizational Study of the Police Department

FINAL REPORT BRIEFING

CITY OF BERKELEY, CA

Presented on October 29, 2024

About Citygate

- Founded in 1990, employing a “Virtual City Hall” model
- Our police consultancy includes police chiefs, undersheriffs, social justice and statistical and data specialists, and former elected officials
- Successfully completed 600+ projects over 32 years serving over 400 communities
- We debate and deliberate internally to deliver actionable recommendations that are customized to meet client needs

Methodology and Data Collection

- Reviewed available documents and electronic records related to the management, operations, staffing, training, and budgeting of the Department
- Developed, administered, and analyzed an anonymous online internal employee survey
- Interviewed sworn and professional staff, along with bargaining groups, other City staff, and elected officials
- Reviewed relevant policies, City charter provisions, other studies, and audit reports of the Department
- Conducted on-site visits of the Department's facilities

Employee Survey Details

- Approximately one-third of the Department's sworn staff and less than 10 percent of professional staff responded to our anonymous online survey
- Questions were developed to evaluate the Department's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats
- Specific questions solicited responses on workload, communication, external obstacles, and hours committed to collateral assignments and proactive activities

- Staff noted the extensive amount overtime worked and the stress of working with reduced staffing
- Supervisors emphasized a growing administrative workload that leaves them less time in the field to lead, coach, and mentor
- Staff crave more support and communication
- Many staff carry more than one ancillary assignment

Patrol Operations Overview

- Current staffing of 60 officers in Patrol is not sustainable given current workloads
- Overtime and ancillary duties have led to burnout and morale concerns
- Adding staff, especially in Patrol, would allow the Department to meet current operational demands and afford staff more time for proactive activities, including community engagement

Patrol Findings

- 34,111 overtime hours were worked in Patrol in 2023
- Calls for service and calls per shift per officer have increased
- Median officer time on-scene has increased
- Most Part 1 crime categories have increased
- Median response time to Priority 2 and Priority 3 calls has increased since 2020
- Case reports have steadily risen since 2020
- Officer-initiated activity has declined
- Sergeants are spending more time on administrative tasks that take them off the street
- Other operational demands are consuming more officer time

Key Recommendations

Timing

- Citygate's recommendations represent a menu of items that will help to improve the organization by reducing staff workloads
- We understand that not all recommendations can be implemented immediately, and more viable alternatives may be discovered over time
- Some initiatives are already underway: Adding CSOs, organizational restructuring, dedicating an officer to recruitment

Patrol

- By adding police officers (to Patrol) and more dispatchers, the Department should see further reductions in some overtime categories
- By adding CSOs to Patrol—to both free up more Patrol officer time and to handle non-urgent calls and reports—the Department will further reduce the need for officer overtime in Patrol (separate and distinct from the SCU duties)
- Continue to record, analyze, and manage overtime to reduce the likelihood of employee fatigue and burnout
- Consider diverting or referring more calls to online reporting

- Add 15 officers [four (4) each to Teams 1, 2, and 3; and three (3) officers to Team 7, bringing the total to 73]
 - These positions are currently funded sworn vacancies
- Add 5 CSOs to Patrol to supplement and support Patrol officers on weekday morning and evening shifts
- CSOs can be trained to take many non-emergency calls and write such reports, recover stolen vehicles and found property, tow abandoned vehicles, retrieve and download video evidence, transport witnesses and victims, etc.
- Modify Use of Force (Level 1) reporting

Investigations

- Add a real-time Crime Analyst who can help to enhance the Department's data-driven efforts, which can lead to quicker and more precise and informed decisions
- Develop a training matrix for investigators
- Add a CSO to take over lab runs to Richmond; detectives currently make such trips
- Consider hiring a cold case detective—potentially a retired annuitant
- Consider adding a second School Resource Officer (SRO)
- Add 1 additional Crime Scene Technician to the current staff of 4

Traffic Bureau

- Restore the Traffic Bureau to full staffing so that it can handle most injury collisions
- Expand the use of social media to inform the public of traffic safety and enforcement efforts
- Add a CSO to conduct or aid in collision investigations
- Collaborate with the City Traffic Engineer to update outdated traffic surveys
- Consider appointing an additional supervisor within the Parking Enforcement Unit to reduce the current span of control and to provide coverage across three shifts

Jail

- Consider creating a civilian manager's position to oversee Jail operations; the assigned Sergeant could then be reassigned to address a higher-priority need for sworn supervision
- Consider reducing the requirement to always have 3 CSOs on duty given that booking officers are required to remain in the booking area during the entire booking process
- Consider a change to the current requirement that does not allow CSOs to transport prisoners

Records Unit

- Staffing the unit with an entry-level Records Specialist I would provide needed help to manage the increased CPRA volume
- Conduct ergonomic assessments of workstations and a workflow analysis to improve operational efficiency

Communications Center

- Citygate concurs with the issues and recommendations identified in the two recent Communications Center studies
- New recruitment and retention efforts for dispatchers have been effective and should be continued
- Consider prioritizing the planning and acquisition of additional floor space and workstations to meet current and future needs
- Consider increasing supervisory Public Safety Dispatcher staffing to ensure proper leadership and supervision for all shifts

Conclusion / Overall Assessment

- The Department has shown a strong commitment to strengthen its culture through employee wellness programs, transparency, and data-driven policing
- The Department's Data Analysis and Transparency Hub are impressive and include current data on calls for service, police stops, the use of force, and current trends
- Staff work hard and have done well to bring forth new and creative ideas given staffing constraints and workload demands
- Staffing Patrol with enough officers to regularly patrol assigned areas (versus relying on overtime) would provide greater opportunities to build community relationships and foster trust
